Beginning of the new apprenticeship year at Langmatz

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, 10 September 2018 – The new 2018/2019 apprenticeship year began at the start of the month at Garmisch-Partenkirchen and Oberau-based Langmatz GmbH. This year a total of 16 young apprentices, including five female apprentices, started their apprenticeship training at the largest industrial business in the district with a workforce of 430. A student studying a dual (work-study) degree in Electrical and Information Technology also started at the company. “We are always happy when, like this year, we are able to fill all the apprenticeship positions offered with committed applicants,” explains Angelika Schubert who is responsible for coordinating the apprenticeships at Langmatz. The company offers apprenticeships in a number of professions, ranging from IT specialists in system integration, Electrician technicians for operating technology, Tool mechanics, Process mechanics, Industrial mechanics, Technical product designers, Warehouse logistics clerks to Industrial management assistants.

More and more women are trying to enter professions traditionally regarded as being the domain of men, Angelika Schubert continues. Our new apprentices therefore include two young women who will be trained as a Warehouse logistics clerk and Industrial mechanic in the industrial company which specialises in plastic and metalworking. The third woman has already started her apprenticeship as an Industrial mechanic at Langmatz.

Langmatz has not just been one of the largest employers in the Garmisch-Partenkirchen region for over 50 years but also has a tradition of offering a number of apprenticeships at the start of every training year. The company is then happy to take on the trainees following the successful completion of their training. In 2013, Langmatz was awarded the Chamber of Industry and Commerce quality seal as an exemplary training company.
